

How to find us

The Center for Science and Thought (CST) is seated in the landmarked “Direktorenvilla” (Directors’ mansion) at the end of Rheinwerkallee. It is located right on the bank of the Rhine at the Bonner Bogen in Oberkassel, a district of Bonn located on the right side of the river. Our center is easy to identify based on its architectural features: It is a red brick building with a tower and white northern façade, combined with a glass annex. Distinct landmarks in its vicinity are the old water tower, the four-story “Rohmühle” as well as the “Kameha Grand Hotel.”

Detailed Directions public transport: From Bonn Hbf to the CST

By subway: From the train platform, head towards the signs for the subway (U-Bahn). Take line 66 towards Bad Honnef and get off at Ramersdorf. The trip takes about 14 minutes.

By tram: Leave the train station through the main entrance and head towards the city center. Take line 62 (departs on the opposite side of the street) towards Oberkassel Süd/Römlinghoven and get off at Ramersdorf. The trip takes about 18 minutes.

From Ramersdorf station

On foot: Leave the station and head towards the car dealership by the main road. Once you have reached Königswinterer Straße, turn left and head for the large roundabout. Cross the roundabout and continue along Königswinterer Straße. Once you have passed the police station located on the right side of the street, turn right into Heinrich-Konen-Straße. Follow Heinrich-Konen-Straße, which goes beneath the train tracks, until you reach the old water tower. Cross the street and turn into Rheinwerkallee, located diagonally across. Stay on Rheinwerkallee until it ends at the Rhine esplanade. The seat of CST is a red brick villa with a white northern façade on the left side of Rheinwerkallee, across from the four-story “Rohmühle”. The entire walk takes about 10 minutes.

By bus from Ramersdorf station: Take line 606 towards Malteser Krankenhaus and get off at the second stop, Konrad-Zuse-Platz. The bus ride takes about 3 minutes.
